THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED, AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Our pledge to you

We understand that medical information about you is personal. We are committed to protecting medical information about you. We create a record of the care and services you receive to provide quality care and to comply with legal requirements. This notice applies to all the records of your care that we maintain, whether created by facility staff or your personal doctor. Your personal doctor may have different policies or notices regarding the doctor's use and disclosure of your medical information created in the doctor's office. Federal law requires us to keep medical information about you private, to give you this notice, and to follow the terms of the notice.

Changes to this Notice

We may change our privacy policies at any time. Before a significant change is made in our policies, we will change our notice and post the new notice in prominent locations such as registration sites, waiting rooms, or exam rooms and on our website at www.stvincentneighborhoodhospital.org. You can receive a copy of the current notice at any time upon request. The effective date is listed at the bottom of this notice. You will also be asked to acknowledge in writing your receipt of this notice.

How we may use and disclose medical information about you

- We may use and disclose medical information about you for treatment (such as sending medical information about you to a specialist as part of a referral or sharing information via the Indiana Network for Patient Care system); to obtain payment for treatment (such as sending billing information to your insurance company or Medicare);

HIPAA- 1 – 45 CFR §164.520(a)(1) & (b)(1)

and to support our health care operations (such as comparing patient data to improve treatment methods, or providing information to DNV GL Healthcare).

- We may use or disclose medical information about you without your prior authorization for several other reasons. Subject to certain requirements, we may give out medical information about you without prior authorization for public health purposes, abuse or neglect reporting, health oversight audits or inspections, research studies, funeral arrangements, organ donation, workers' compensation purposes and emergencies. We also disclose medical information when required by law, such as in response to a request from law enforcement in specific circumstances, to avert a serious threat to health or safety, or in response to valid judicial or administrative orders.
- We may contact you for appointment reminders, or to tell you about or recommend possible treatment options, alternatives, health related benefits or services that may be of interest to you, or to support fundraising efforts.
- If admitted as an in-patient, unless you tell us otherwise, we will list in the in-patient directory your name, location in the hospital, your general condition (good, fair, etc.) and your religious affiliation, and will release all but your religious affiliation to anyone who asks about you by name. Your name will appear on a religious affiliation / church list and may be disclosed only to a clergy member representing your church or to your church's representative, even if they do not ask for you by name. You have the right to be excluded from the in-patient directory. Exclusion from the directory means no information will be disclosed to any persons who contact the Hospital and ask for you by name including disclosures for floral deliveries and mail. The Hospital is unable to accommodate request(s) to disclose information to certain individuals (i.e. mom) and not others (i.e. ex-husband).
- We may disclose medical information about you to a friend or family member who is involved in your medical care or to disaster relief authorities so that your family can be notified of your location and condition.
- Unless you give us written permission, we will never: share your information for marketing purposes, sell your information, or share your psychotherapy notes (most).
- We may contact you for fundraising efforts, but you can tell us not to contact you again

Incidental Uses and Disclosures

We may occasionally inadvertently use or disclose your medical information when such use or disclosure leads to another use or disclosure that is permitted or required by law. For example, while we have safeguards in place to protect against others overhearing our conversations that take place between doctors, nurses or other personnel, there may be times that such conversations are in fact overheard. Please be assured, however, that we have appropriate safeguards in place to avoid such situations, as much as possible.

Disclosures of Mental Health Records

If your records contain information regarding your mental health, we are restricted in the ways that we can use and disclose them. We can disclose such records without written permission only in the following situations:

- If the disclosure is made to you (unless it is determined by a physician that the release would be detrimental to your health);
- Disclosures to our employees in certain circumstances;
- For payment purposes;
- For data collection, research, and monitoring managed care providers if the disclosure is made to the division of mental health;
- For law enforcement purposes or to avert a serious threat to the health and safety of you or others;
- To a coroner or medical examiner;
- To satisfy reporting requirements;
- To satisfy release of information requirements that are required by law;
- To another provider in an emergency;
- For legitimate business purposes;
- Under a court order;
- To the Secret Service if necessary to protect a person under Secret Service protection; and
- To the statewide waiver ombudsman.

Other uses of medical information

In any other situation not covered by this notice, we will ask for your written authorization before using or disclosing medical information about you. If you chose to authorize use or disclosure, you can later revoke that authorization by notifying us in writing of your decision.

Your rights regarding medical information about you

- In most cases, you have the right to inspect and obtain an electronic or paper copy of your medical information that we use to make decisions about your care, when you submit a written request. We will provide copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 30 days of your request. If you request copies, we may charge a fee for the cost of copying, mailing or other related supplies and services. If we deny your request to review or obtain a copy, you may submit a written request for a review of that decision.
- If you believe that information in your record is incorrect or if important information is missing, you have the right to request that we amend the records, by submitting a request in writing that provides your reason for requesting the amendment. We could deny your request to amend a record if the information was not created by us; if it is not part of the medical information maintained by us; or if we determine that record is accurate. If we deny your request, we will inform you in writing within 60 days. You may appeal, in writing, a decision by us not to amend a record.

- You have the right to a list of those instances where we have disclosed medical information about you, other than for treatment, payment, health care operations or where you specifically authorized a disclosure, when you submit a written request. We will include all disclosures except for those about treatment, payment, and health care operations. The request must state the period desired for the accounting, which must be six (6) years or less starting after April 14, 2003. You may receive the list in paper or electronic form. The first disclosure list request in a twelve (12)-month period is free; other requests will be charged per our cost of producing the list. We will inform you of the cost before you incur any costs.
- If this notice was sent to you electronically, you have the right to a paper copy of this notice.
- You have the right to request that medical information about you be communicated to you in a confidential manner, such as sending mail to an address other than your home, by notifying us in writing of the specific way or location for us to use to communicate with you. We will make a good faith effort to honor your request but we are not legally required to do so if the request is unreasonable or infeasible. We will inform you of our decision on your request.
- You may request, in writing, that we not use or disclose medical information about you for treatment, payment or healthcare operations or to persons involved in your care except when specifically authorized by you, when required by law, or in an emergency. We will consider your request but we are not legally required to accept it. We will inform you of our decision on your request.
- You have the right to restrict disclosures of your health information to your health plan for payment and health care operations purposes (and not for treatment) if the disclosure pertains to a health care item or service for which you paid out-of-pocket in full.
- If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your rights and make choices about your health. We will make sure the person has this authority and can act for you before we take any action.

However, we must have documentation of the court order prior to denying the non-custodial parent such access.

All written requests or appeals should be submitted to our Privacy Office listed at the bottom of this notice.
